Tutoring Experience

I have been tutoring IB and A-Level students in Hong Kong for over five years, focusing on the Extended Essay, English, and French. My journey began with a passion for languages and a desire to help students excel in their academic pursuits. I tailor my sessions to each student's individual needs, whether they're struggling with grammar in French or crafting a compelling argument in their English essays. Over the years, I've guided students through the intricacies of the IB Extended Essay, helping them choose topics, develop research skills, and refine their writing to meet the rigorous standards of the IB program. My approach is student-centered, aiming to build both confidence and competence. I've seen many of my students not only improve their grades but also develop a genuine interest in the subjects I teach. Seeing their progress is what motivates me every day.
