Tutoring Experience

I have over 500 hours of tutoring experience, specializing in guiding students through the complexities of the IB, A-Level, and IGCSE curriculums. My teaching journey began during my undergraduate studies, where I volunteered as a peer mentor, helping fellow students improve their essay writing skills. Since then, I've worked with students from diverse backgrounds, assisting them with Extended Essays, English language mastery, and the nuances of French grammar and literature. I also have a strong focus on Sociology, having led numerous workshops on sociological theories and research methodologies. My goal is to make learning an engaging and enriching experience, where students not only achieve high grades but also develop a deep understanding and passion for the subjects they study.
